The Problem

Assignors have a very large logistical problem on their hands every season. For any assignor, whether they have been doing it for years or are new to the arena, it is very difficult to stay up to date with officials closed dates. In addition, filling games with officials is cumbersome. Tracking different levels of officials, officials' schedules, restrictions and other scheduling factors is a huge consideration. Assignors continually face problems such as finding available officials, finding qualified officials, and the tracking of officials to games. The biggest problem to assignors is finding an available official on short notice to fill a game that has been turned back by another official.

The Solution

GotRef™ has been created to address the logistical problems associated with game to official assignments for all sports. Our company recognizes that tracking schedules of officials should be up to the minute. We also recognize that every official wants only one schedule to track all of their assignments as well as personal commitments. Our system has many different features that allow assignors to simplify their assignment tasks. An assignor has a list of available officials that will be shown to the assignor based on approved levels. With our notification engine, everyone that is involved in the assignment will be notified instantly via e-mail or the next time they log into GotRef™. Officials can easily return games to assignors for reassignment if the need arises. The assignor will be notified of returned games via our notification engine instantly through e-mail and upon logging into the system. This streamlines the process of accepting, rejecting or returning assignments.

GotRef™ has two large benefits for assignors with many games called QuickAssign™ and IntellAssign™. Simply stated, QuickAssign™ allows automatic game assignment based on the settings configured for a specific assignor. QuickAssign™ allows the assignor to assign any number of games with just a few clicks. IntellAssign™ allows the assignor to find the statistically best choice for a last minute assignment. IntellAssign™ also allows an assignor to reduce the number of returned games, because the system is tracking how the officials use the system. This creates a fast, intelligent way for an assignor to ensure the game will have an official that is not likely to return the game for reassignment.

GotRef™ should be considered by assignors as the next generation of their game information filing cabinet. Unlike most filing cabinets, our system will provide you with up to the minute scheduling, allowing you to reduce your workload and have all your information automatically filed.
